

Children And Hospitals Week Celebrating A Commitment To Care

At Lehigh Valley Hospital, a combination of skill, sensitivity and compassion is integral to the care and comfort of sick and injured children.

In observance of Children and Hospitals Week, March 19-25, the hospital is hosting a series of inhouse and community programs and activities that reaffirm its role in meeting the special needs of children.

On Saturday, March 18, the hospital is sponsoring a Teddy Bear Clinic from 11 am - 3 pm at the Lehigh Valley Mall. During the clinic, area children are invited to bring their teddy bears to the mall for a "check-up" by hospital personnel who will monitor the blood pressure and breathing of the youngster's "furry friends" and bandage any boo-boos, too. All participants can also be photographed and receive a free souvenir print from Hummingbird Photo; have the opportunity to meet and mingle with "Koola Bear", the burn prevention mascot; and be eligible to win a bike safety helmet. In addition, plenty of child safety information will be available to parents.

On March 20, the committee coordinating Children and Hospitals Week will host "The Healing Game" from 8:30 - 10:30 am in the Anderson Wing Lobby, CC & I-78; and from 11:30 am - 1:30 pm, outside the cafeteria, 17th & Chew. Employees who would like to test their knowledge about healing processes for children are invited to participate by responding to a series of true and false questions. It's a great learning opportunity and one that will sweeten your day. Participants who respond correctly to the questions will receive a kiss (of the Hershey's variety.)

On March 22, Linda Drexinger-Durishin, nursing education, will conduct nursing grand rounds beginning at noon in the president's room, CC & I-78. Earlier this month, she presented the program on non-invasive healing techniques for children at 17th & Chew.

On March 21 and 22, the Purple Dinosaur and Lolli the Clown will visit and entertain children being tested and/or treated at both sites. Pediatric patients will also be treated to meals that are sure to make them happy compliments of Burger King and McDonald's on March 21 at CC & I-78 and March 24 at 17th & Chew.

The week will culminate with an art judging contest on March 23 from 11:30 am - 1:30 pm in the Anderson Wing Lobby, CC & I-78; and March 24 from 11:30 am - 1:30 pm outside the cafeteria, 17th & Chew. Hospital employees are invited to cast their ballots for artwork created by children treated on an inpatient or outpatient basis during March. The theme of the contest, "This Room Makes Me Feel Good Because..." is expected to elicit some imaginative ideas about how to improve the hospital environment for children. Forty-dollar gift certificates to Toys 'R Us will be awarded to children in age groups 2-5, 6-9 and 10-12 and all ideas will be considered in designing the new pediatric unit at CC & I-78.

The planning committee has already initiated a project to create a friendlier, less frightening hospital environment for children. Departments throughout the hospital have been invited to participate in this effort by developing specific plans for improving the processes by which they provide services to children or the actual treatment areas. The initiative should be realistic to implement, represent collaborative staff efforts and affect children directly in their hospital experience be it physically, emotionally, spiritually or psychologically.

Departments interested in participating must complete and submit their proposals to Darla Heivly or Cindy Max, 5S, Pediatrics by March 15. The entries will be reviewed by the planning committee and prizes will be awarded on March 20 for the most practical and creative proposals. Departments placing first and second will be treated to a pizza party compliments of hospital management. In addition, all participating departments will receive tokens of appreciation. Entry forms are available by calling Heivly at ext. 2820 or Max at ext. 2417.

In addition to participating in the above activities, employees who ordered Children and Hospitals tee shirts are encouraged to wear them during the week. The shirts are emblazoned with the slogan "Kids Need More Than Medicine To Get Well."

Anyone who ordered the shirts can arrange for pick-up by contacting Shirley Wagner at ext. 2333 or via E-mail.

Family Health Center Opens

Family practitioners at Lehigh Valley Hospital are providing patient care at a new Allentown location that will also serve as the base for the the hospital's family practice resident training program and training center for family nurse practitioners

The Lehigh Valley Family Health Center opened in February at 1730 Chew Street, across from the Allentown Fairgrounds and less than a block from the hospital's 17th & Chew site.

The Chew Street site was selected for the center based on community need and also because of its proximity to the hospital's ambulatory services.

Four physicians practicing at the center are

Headley S. White, Jr, MD, chairman of the department of family practice; William L. Miller, MD, vice chairman of the department and director of the residency program; Brian Stello, MD; and John Reinhart, MD. Barbara A. Salvatore, RN, MS is the department's administrative director.

Residency training is expected to begin in June 1996 with a class of six. The program will train a total of 18 residents, primarily graduates of the Milton S. Hershey Medical School of Medicine, a Penn State-administered medical school affiliated with Lehigh Valley Hospital. Meanwhile, nurses who will train as family nurse practitioners will be recruited from local and regional colleges and universities.

Gala Celebration To Honor Nurses

Nurses network-wide will be recognized for their outstanding professional achievements and contributions during Nurses Week (May 4-12). Honors will be accorded to nurses who published or presented a paper/poster; earned a baccalaureate or graduate degree; held office in a professional organization; won a professional award, scholarship or fellowship; received a grant; and/or was appointed to faculty, editorial board, etc. during 1994 and 1995. Each nurse's name and achievement(s) will be listed in the program for the Gala Celebration of Nursing on May 4 at the Holiday Inn, Fogelsville. A photo of the group will be taken at the celebration. To recommend a nurse for recognition, please E-mail the individual's name, title and department along with a detailed description of his or her achievement to JoAnn Gruber by March 31.

Channel 39 To Highlight Spirit Of Women

WLVT-TV Channel 39 will broadcast highlights of Spirit of Women 1995 on Friday, March 24 at 7:30 pm. The telecast will include interviews with keynote speakers and coordinators of the conference sponsored by Lehigh Valley Hospital WomanCare and The Bon-Ton. Spirit of Women 1995 will be held Thursday and Friday, March 23 and 24, at the Holiday Inn Conference Center, Bethlehem. A reception and dinner will launch the conference on Thursday evening followed by a keynote address by Bernadine Healy, MD, former director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH). On Friday, March 24, keynote speakers will include Patricia Russell-McCloud, JD, an attorney and president of a motivational speaking and professional training association; Maria Hinojosa, an award-winning journalist and news correspondent for National Public Radio; and Liz Curtis Higgs, a veteran radio personality who helps her audiences find humor in their everyday lives. Friday's program will also feature workshops on topics ranging from body image and conflict resolution to financial fitness and holistic medicine. There is still time to register for the conference by calling (610) 402-CARE. The cost of the program is $40 for Thursday evening's reception, dinner and keynote address; $40 for Friday's breakfast, lunch, workshops and keynote addresses; or $75 for the complete programs on both days.

Health Care Presentations Planned

Tim Porter O'Grady, EdD, RN, FAAN, will present "A Glimpse Over the Horizon" - The Future of Professional Practice," a lecture for hospital employees, on Tuesday, March 21 from 10-11 am and 2-3 pm in the auditorium, CC & I-78. In between, he will address department heads about "Restructuring Care: Self-Governance and Empowered Care Teams" from 12:45-1:45 pm in Classrooms 1&2. Dr. Porter O'Grady has worked in a range of positions from staff nurse to hospital and health service executive. He is president of an international health care consulting firm specializing in organizational transformation and health service reform issues. He also serves on the graduate faculty of Emory University in Atlanta. Dr. Porter O'Grady holds a graduate degree in nursing and business administration and a doctorate in learning behavior. He is currently working toward a second doctorate in health systems. A widely published author, he focuses on systems innovation and creativity as applied to the delivery of health services.

EMail Facilitates Communication, Operations Improvement

Since its gradual implementation began in June 1993, EMail has become a primary form of communication among hospital employees and physicians as well as a valuable operations improvement tool.

As of February 1995, Mark Jones, EMail coordinator, reports that:

- More than 3,550 people have been trained and are currently using EMail
- The total number of letters Emailed exceeds 2,600,000 (an average of 124,000 per month.)
- Savings on paper costs alone, based on total number of mailings, would exceed $41,600.00

- Information Services has responded to more than 6,000 EMail requests, most of which were submitted via EMail.
- Over 105 bulletin boards, 245 public mailing lists and 61 electronic forms can be accessed via EMail.
- By the end of 1995, more than 4500 employees network-wide will have access to EMail.

Jones notes that efforts continue to convert most of the data currently on paper including forms, policies and schedules to EMail. The EMail information will be easier to access and the most accurate information available, enabling employees to perform their jobs more efficiently, he says.
